

March 2013

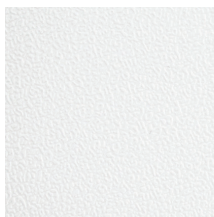

Calcium Silicate Ceiling Tiles Now Available

To extend our range and satisfy the demand for calcium silicate specifications especially in the healthcare sector we are proud to announce the launch of our new branded products econocal and econotherm.

Both econocal and econotherm ceiling tiles are produced from calcium silicate and they are extremely strong and durable. Econocal has a white vinyl face and an aluminium foil backing, as well as encapsulated edges which further enhance the tiles inherent properties. Econotherm tiles have an added component of 25mm fire retardant polystyrene applied to the back of the standard econocal tile.

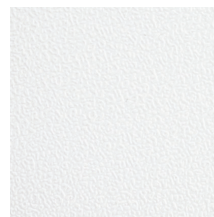

SURFACE FINISHES AND SIZES

econocal

white
1200 X 600 X 6mm SE
8.33 kg/m²
Packing Details:
10 tiles / 7.2 m² per pack
300 tiles per stack
Class A / A1 / 1

econotherm

white
1200 X 600 X 31mm (6+25mm) SE
9.03 kg/m²
Packing Details:
10 tiles / 7.2 m² per pack
100 tiles per stack
Class A / A1 / 1

Features	Benefits
Manufactured using incombustible raw materials	The product will not burn
Excellent fire resistant properties	Flame spread is reduced and no smoke or poisonous gas is produced by presence of fire
Resists moisture without degradation	Ideal for wet areas eg: bathrooms, kitchens and non-airconditioned areas which have high relative humidity
Low co-efficient of expansion and contraction	Systems installations improve efficiency of airconditioning thereby lowering long term running costs
Composition and hardness	Particle emission is greatly reduced
Hardened tile edges	Offers extra strength and reduces risk of breakages
Stable and durable	Resistant to buckling, cracking and sagging even under adverse environmental conditions

SAFE AND SUITABLE FOR ALL TYPES OF COMMERCIAL APPLICATIONS
Hospitals, Schools, Office Buildings and Retail outlets
Preferred specification for healthcare facilities

Head Office / Durban (031) 563 7307 | Pietermaritzburg (033) 345 3701

For export and all other regions contact our head office or one of our distributors.

info@pelican.co.za | www.pelican.co.za

Find us online at any of these social media sites

